

Campaign aide to Paul Simon disappears

TIM CARPENTER

By SUSAN SIGNAIG-WEICH
of the Press-Record

St. Clair County Sheriff's Department and the Federal Bureau of Investigation are looking into the disappearance of Tim Carpenter, a field organizer for U.S. Representative Paul Simon, who works from the Granite City campaign office. Carpenter, 25, was last seen at 3:30 Friday afternoon when he attended a meeting of the Illinois Public Action Council in Edwardsville.

KATE PEYTON, field director for the Simon campaign, said she first became worried about Carpenter's whereabouts when he did not call her to make his weekly report Sunday night. "I was concerned when he did not call me Sunday, but when he did not report to work Monday morning, I really became worried," she said.

She said Carpenter is the only "staffer" who works in the Granite City office. The rest of the personnel are volunteers.

Carpenter, who is originally from Alpina, Mich., has been staying at the Fairview Heights home of Lawyer Dennis W. Shelvin since mid-February. Shelvin told police that he has not seen Carpenter since Thursday evening.

CARPENTER is unmarried. His parents, who reside in Alpina, are flying to Southern Illinois today to aid in the search for their son.

Co-workers of Carpenter say they can't imagine him leaving town without telling someone where he was going. "I hope that Tim took off and went to the Mardi Gras, because when he gets back I'll kill him," said Miss Peyton. "But I just can't imagine I'm doing anything like that."

Miss Peyton said Carpenter is well liked and is a "responsible and very stable guy."

SHE THEORIZES that Carpenter came to the Granite City office sometime during the evening on Friday, because when volunteers came to the office Monday, they noticed that 10,000 copies of literature and a map had been taken.

LI. James Lay of the St. Clair County Sheriff's Department is heading the investigation into Carpenter's disappearance. Lay said late Wednesday that there had been no developments in the case.

"About all we can do at this point is get the news of his disappearance out to the newspapers and the television stations and hope that somebody has seen him," said Lay. "We have checked with all the hospitals in the area and nothing has turned up. We even called the hospitals as far away as Carbondale, Ill., since that is where Simon's headquarters are located."

LAY SAID that his office also has been in touch with all of the police departments in the area and that their knowledge, he has not been involved in any traffic accidents in Illinois or in the St. Louis area.

Although there is no evidence to support anything suspicious, Lay said he is not ruling out the possibility that foul play is involved. "Carpenter's disappearance," Miss Peyton said that Carpenter had not been acting unusual before his disappearance. She also noted that he was not carrying a lot of money. "But that doesn't mean that someone didn't try to rob him," she said.

PERSONS HAVING any knowledge about Carpenter's whereabouts are being urged to contact the St. Clair County Sheriff's Department at 1-618-277-3500.

Carpenter is 5 feet, 8 inches tall, weighs 200 pounds, has brown hair, a mustache and wears glasses. He drives a green 1974 Datsun with Illinois license plates YQB-348.

Study new school cutbacks

By BILL WINTER
of the Press-Record

Eleven cost reduction categories being considered by the Granite City School Board include one for "sale of school property," and the board hopes to proceed with such sales soon.

Other ways of boosting revenue and paring expenditures to reduce operating debt also are being explored.

The board met Tuesday night until 12:40 a.m. and will assemble again at 2 p.m. Sunday to deliberate on next year's staffing. It also plans sessions on March 20 and 27.

The Madison County Regional Board of School Trustees has agreed to try to sell the Emerson, Johnson, Logan and Washington elementary schools and most of the Nameoki Grade School tract by sealed bidding.

OPENING OF BIDS is planned at 9:30 a.m. Monday, March 19, in GC District Nine's board office. Previous bids were received on some of the schools and were rejected as too low.

The 11 ideas or goals stemming from a board and administrator roundtable discussion Feb. 25 at Granite City High School are:

Ban sought on lewd dancing

By GEORGEANN MCGEE
of the Press-Record

Topless or bottomless dancing would be barred in Granite City under a newly-proposed law that is intended to prohibit lewd entertainment. Nude dancing, however, has not been a local problem.

Another proposed law would require businesses serving liquor to pay a $2,500 annual fee if professional dancers entertain at those establishments.

THE TWO ordinances received unanimous approval during first readings at the regular city council session Tuesday night. Both laws are expected to be given final consideration on March 21. Dancing by members of the public is not prohibited or regulated under those laws.

The appearance last year of male and female dancers at two night spots here had sparked some complaints by residents. Third Ward aldermen representing the residential neighborhood where dancers performed at Pete & Mary's Tavern, 2409 Lincoln Ave., subsequently asked for an ordinance to control "provocative types" of entertainment.

The Third Ward aldermen had rejected a previously-proposed public indecency and obscenity law which carried a minimum $10 fine. Alderman Carl Kittel had objected to the amount of the fine and Alderman Paul Fisk had been concerned the ordinance would not prevent the problems being experienced in his ward.

THE LIQUOR Dispenser's Entertainment License would require tavern owners to provide the police department with a monthly listing of the names and addresses of their entertainers and the times and dates they performed. Musicians and singers would be exempt from the law.

Failure to abide by the law would result in a fine not to exceed $500.

City Attorney John Papa told the council the list could aid in prosecuting violators by providing needed information. The license fee of $2,500 is intended to compensate the city for extra time spent regulating the businesses.

"Certain persons who entertain at premises where alcoholic liquor is sold for consumption tend to be or become involved in unlawful activities," according to the ordinance. The law goes on to say the cost of investigating those businesses is a burden to the city that should be paid for by the taverns.

Alderman to retire from Madison Council

Madison's First Ward Alderman Robert Donald Reeves, announced Tuesday that he will resign from his city office April 10.

Reeves, who has served as an alderman since 1961, said his resignation as a city official will coincide with his retirement as a custodian at Harris School. "I'm 63 years old, so I am retiring from my position with the city, as well as my position at the school," he said.

MAYOR MIKE Sasyk said Wednesday that he is aware of Reeves' plans. "Don's been very conscientious and dedicated to the community during his years as alderman," Sasyk said. "He's tried to make as many improvements as possible to his ward. He's also done a lot of work with the street department. Don's been a good alderman."

Since Reeves' announcement, rumors have circulated that three persons were being considered as his replacement. Fire Chief Mike Macek, former City Comptroller Al Huzik and Andy Economy, co-owner of Lee and Andy's Towing Service, 1330 Madison Ave.

Sasyk said that "none of the people mentioned in the rumor will replace Reeves." He said that two of them (Macek and Economy) can't take the position and one of them (Hudzik) declined.

SASYK SAID that Macek can't take the position because he is employed by the city of Madison. He said Economy would not take the position because he is a businessman in the community, does work for the city and he feels it would be a conflict of interest. He said Hudzik declined because of his position with the First Granite City National Bank.

Sasyk said he is considering some other persons for the position, but that he would not name them at this point.

Reeves has resided in Madison since 1937, but was born in Kansas City, Kan. He is a graduate of Eldon Community High School in Eldon, Mo.

BEFORE TAKING his job with the Madison public schools 21 years ago, Reeves was a newspaper carrier in Madison for 20 years. He also was an employee of Granite City Steel and Dow Chemical plants.

Reeves is a member of the Holy Trinity Bulgarian Orthodox Church and its church board.

A veteran of World War II, he holds membership in Venice, Madison American Legion Post 307,

R. DONALD REEVES

Madison Annets Post 304 and the Madison City Organization.

HE IS married to the former Sylvia Belcoff and they have two children, Donna and Bob.

"It has been an honor, privilege and a pleasure to have been a public servant these many years," Reeves said. He said he plans to take an "unscheduled seasonal vacation now and then" in his spare time.

EOC votes to file for bankruptcy

By JIM WOODCOCK

The board of commissioners for the troubled Madison County Economic Opportunity Commission approved a motion Wednesday in Granite City that the agency file for voluntary bankruptcy in federal court.

The action is to be taken as soon as possible. The EOC did not vote to disband, as had been discussed previously.

Commissioners said several matters involved with filing for bankruptcy already have been taken care of, and that the EOC may be able to file as early as next week.

BY FILING for bankruptcy, the EOC remains in operation as an independent, non-profit agency.

Also, EOC officials will not be held personally liable for bills which have not been paid by the agency, it was noted.

However, EOC officials indicated that the agency can do very little now, or later, unless its financial problems can be solved.

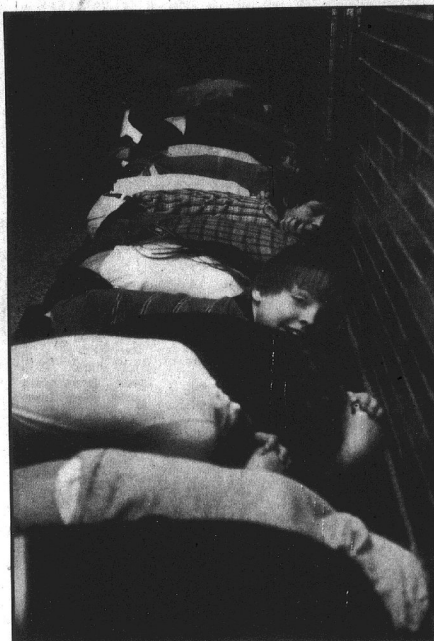

The EOC was forced to shut down in December because of insufficient funds. Since that time, the EOC has been stripped of its role as the county's anti-poverty agency and has been the subject of state and federal investigations concerning its fiscal management.

The county has taken over operation of most of the programs formerly administered by the EOC.

THE EOC is in considerable debt to vendors who provided materials or services for its former programs, said EOC Attorney James Reeves.

Reeves admitted that he did not know the exact amount the EOC is in debt, but said, "there's no realistic prospect of being able to pay (the debts). The best plan of action is to file for voluntary bankruptcy to make some sense and order of the

Eagles Aerie and Auxiliary celebrate Founder's Day

The Granite City Eagles Aerie and Auxiliary celebrated Founder's Day with a special initiation of new candidates for both organizations and a late pot luck dinner, at the local Eagles Aerie, 268 Madison Ave.

Prior to the local festivities a letter was received from Pio Scannell of Milwaukee, Wis., grand worthy president, which saluted the local group with "Happy Birthday Brothers and Sisters."

His letter continued—"In February the Fraternal Order of Eagles will become 86 years old. That's a ripe old age and we've come a long way since those six founding fathers got things started on the Seattle waterfront. Their guiding philosophy was to lessen the ill of manhood and I don't think there is any doubt that we have kept the faith through the years."

"I am asking each Aerie to hold its own Founder's Day observance sometime during February, and it could include a luncheon and a special birthday initiation," the national president concluded.

Bud Shaffer, inside guard of the Eagles Aerie 1126, read the letter and was later appointed to arrange the dinner and initiation ceremony for both local groups on the last Sunday of February.

New members taking the oath of membership in the Auxiliary were Marti Hoerle, Patricia Hale, Lorraine Gipson and Mary McCall. The ceremony was performed by the auxiliary initiation team including, Helen Frazier, past president, Gladys Freeman, president, Carol Hill, vice president, Vincene Zerlan, chaplain, Linda Bone, conductor, Kathy Barnhart, secretary, Yvonne Gray, inside guard and Sharon Shaffer, outside guard.

After the ceremonial, Mrs. Freeman welcomed the new members while standing at the altar and presented membership cards to each one.

The initiating team for the Aerie were, Bud Shaffer, past president, Randy Odom, president, Bill Barnhart, vice president, Larry Barnhart, chaplain, Bob Stanton, conductor, John Aubuchon, secretary and Mark Bone, inside guard.

Members of the investigating team for the new members were John Turner and Greg McCall.

Candidates for Aerie membership included, Phillip Miller, Mike Patrick, Terry Downing, Stephen D. Hale, August Sacadat, Donald Ballard, Thomas D. Stephens, Richard E. Hensen, Chuck Mason, Donald C. Ogden and Mark Harris. Randy Odom, Aerie president, addressed the new group with a welcoming statement, "Aerie 1126 is one member of the Fraternal Order of Eagles which is recognized nationwide, but our Aerie can only progress if you as individuals put your best effort forward by getting involved in Eagle activities, charity drives and bring new members into our Aerie."

Immediately following the meeting a dinner, prepared by the men and women of the Aerie, was served in the social room.

At this time, Shaffer, Aerie chairman of the celebration and current president of the Southwest Illinois Key's Syndrome Chapter, said, "I believe that Grand Worthy President Scagnelli and all Eagles nationwide would be proud of the way we have observed this day for the Fraternal Order of Eagles."

BLAST FROM SHOTGUN

HITS GCDWELLING

Someone fired a shotgun blast at the home of Randy Whitford, 2002 Jefferson Ave., it was reported at 11:45 a.m. The incident apparently occurred about 12:15 a.m. that day when Whitford heard a loud noise and tires squealing.

It was not until the daylight hours that a 16-inch round pattern, about five feet off the ground, was found on the southwest corner of the dwelling. Holes also were made in a drainpipe by a second shot, it was believed.

Edgar urges passage of mandatory insurance bill

Secretary of State Jim Edgar has told the Illinois House Insurance Committee that responsible Illinois drivers deserve the protection a mandatory automobile liability insurance law would provide and urged the General Assembly to enact legislation this session.

"At issue is fairness," Edgar said. "Throughout Illinois, responsible, insured motorists have told me they're tired of bearing the burden of uninsured motorists and ask what is being done about the problem."

"Statewide, there may be as many as one million uninsured vehicles. That means if you have an accident in Illinois, there is a one in five chance the other driver will be uninsured. In Chicago, those odds increase dramatically to almost one in two," he said.

Edgar said his proposal, which passed the Illinois House last session but was defeated in the Senate Insurance Committee, is "workable, enforceable and affordable."

"I'm not saying this bill will be a panacea for the uninsured motorist problem, but I am confident it will significantly reduce their number without costing the state millions of dollars it can't afford for enforcement."

Edgar said his office examined the laws of the more than 30 states that have some form of mandatory insurance and the best elements of those laws have been implemented in his proposal.

Edgar said that his approach is similar to that being used in Oregon, West Virginia, Pennsylvania, South Carolina and other states.

"Following enactment of Oregon's mandatory insurance law," he said, "the number of uninsured vehicles dropped from 14 percent to five percent without creating a bureaucratic nightmare that cost millions of dollars to administer."

The major points of Edgar's mandatory insurance proposal are:

—Automobile owners would be required to include the name of their insurance company and policy number on their vehicle registration application.

—The Secretary of State's office would have the authority to monitor compliance with the law by verifying a random sample of the policies listed on those applications.

—The registration card would include a highly visible warning regarding the requirement for insurance, and the owner's signature attesting to liability coverage on the vehicle.

—Vehicle owners would be required to carry proof of insurance coverage meeting standards to be set by the Department of Insurance.

—Police officers would be authorized to check for proof of coverage any time a vehicle is stopped for a traffic violation. A ticket would be written if no proof is shown.

—Failure to comply with the new law would result in a $250 fine and a three-month suspension of driving privileges for the first conviction, $500 fine and a six-month suspension of driving privileges for second and subsequent convictions.

—To reapply for reinstatement following a suspension, the driver must file and maintain proof of insurance.

—A sunset provision will require a review of the program's effectiveness after four years.

Chouteau concerned about continuing ambulance service

By DONNA KIMBRO
of the Press-Record

Does Chouteau Township have ambulance service or, because of unpaid bills, is the present service going to be discontinued by Campbell Ambulance Service, Inc.? Eddie Lee, a member of the Mitchell Volunteer Fire Department asked that question at the Chouteau Township meeting Monday night.

According to Lee, a representative of Campbell Ambulance Service called his home and informed him that the service would be discontinued unless bills for ambulance trips of Chouteau residents were paid.

IN RESPONSE to the question, Supervisor Walter "Dick" Sparks said, "I have not heard a word about this and I think if Campbell Service was going to quit taking care of township residents, he would at least notify the board of trustees."

"Since Campbell began servicing this area, we have only had three bills submitted to the township for payment. One was paid, and another one we very late and we have been trying to contact the person who used the service. She (the patient) lived in one of the trailer parks and has since moved, Sparks explained.

Lee stated, "I am not concerned with who pays the bills, I only want to alert the board of this possibility and, if Campbell does refuse to come into this area, you will have to find another ambulance service."

SPARKS replied, "I don't know the feeling of the board, but I will not pay bills for people who have the money to take care of the ambulance costs. I feel I am only obligated to pay bills for ambulance runs for residents on general assistance. I will not spend the township money for any Tom, Dick or Harry that wants an ambulance."

In conjunction with the rumor concerning this problem, Supervisor Sparks contacted the Campbell office on Tuesday and found there are no outstanding bills to be paid. The only one in doubt was one in January of 1983 that was not forwarded to the township until last week. Sparks investigated this particular bill and found the woman had resided in the township at the time of service and has since moved to Pontoon Beach, but she is a Public Aid recipient and Public Aid does pay all ambulances fees.

During the town board meeting Monday night, all trustees agreed that the township must have an ambulance service and the people able to absorb the cost should pay. But if Campbell, in fact, is serious about discontinuing the service, the township must act immediately to find another ambulance company willing to serve the township.

SPARKS then said he would contact Mr. Roger Campbell (which he did on Tuesday) and ask about the situation. Sparks said he will present all the facts at the next meeting on March 19. At this time, the board of trustees will have to decide on what course to follow, he added.

Although there is no formal contract between the township and Campbell Ambulance Service, Inc., the verbal agreement was that the Chouteau Township would pay only for the calls for people on general assistance and not be responsible for those able to pay the fees, Sparks reminded the board.

This was clearly defined that when the ambulance service came to Chouteau Township, it would be the responsibility of the service to collect all bills other than those for general assistance patients, and Campbell agreed to this, Sparks emphasized.

ROGER CAMPBELL, who has an office in Centralia at the present time, could not be reached by telephone for his comment on the situation.

Sparks wrote a letter dated March 6 to Campbell in relation to the problem and, in part, said, "If you have any complaints with servicing the township, it is my feeling you should communicate with me before any other steps are taken."

The supervisor told the Press-Record Wednesday morning that he feels the rumors are unfounded and people should call him if they have a question and he will attempt to answer. If he is not able to give an answer, he will then investigate the situation and give a positive answer, he pledged.

The township received a check for $487 interest in the IMRF Road and Bridge Fund, Sparks announced.

He also read a letter from Allan Walker, attorney for the township, in conjunction with a meeting he attended with concerned citizens in the Mitchell area who inquired about the legality of a tax levy to support a police department.

"First of all the maximum tax rate is 25 cents but there may be a way to do this for public safety. However, to proceed with all the legal facets to levy a tax, even for public safety, Roxana, South Roxana and Hartford municipalities must also agree to an increase in the levy since the boundaries of the township encompasses their area," Walker explained.

An announcement was made of future meetings to include a public session at 7 p.m. March 27 for a Road and Bridge budget hearing, annual audit on April 4, and township officials meeting March 15.

The next regular meeting of the board of trustees is March 19. Also, the Madison County Zoning Board of Appeals will hold a public hearing at 9 a.m. on Monday, March 12, in the basement of the Edwardsville courthouse to specifically change amendments to the zoning board rules and regulations, Sparks said.

Tax indexing must be defended

Starting next year, "indexing" will end the unfair situation in which taxpayers found inflation pushing them into higher income tax brackets even though their relative wealth was not rising.

It is already a law, but the issue inappropriately is being revived by some candidates this year. Such tampering with the index concept seems unjust and also tactically unwise for office seekers.

For a number of years people saw their real income and buying power decline even though their wages were increasing. Workers got raises, only to find that this required them to pay a bigger percentage to Uncle Sam.

As Treasury Secretary Donald Regan described it, "Americans were finding that the harder they worked the less they got to keep—a classic case of diminishing returns, a recipe for resentment and a prescription for destroying incentive. The years 1979 and 1980 were especially harsh, since many raises did not even keep up with double-digit inflation, not to mention the extra taxes on that inflation."

Beginning Jan. 1, 1985, the "inflation tax" will no longer exist. Higher taxes will be owed only when real income gains are made (a real gain is the portion of a pay hike above and beyond the inflation rate).

Tax rate schedules and the $1,000 personal exemption will be adjusted at the end of each year to offset any rise in the consumer price index. The taxpayer will have to make no additional calculations, since any changes will be incorporated directly into Internal Revenue Service tax tables.

Regan adds, "Indexing is one of the most equitable reforms since the modern-day tax code was instituted in 1913. Currently, because of inflation and our progressive rates, every 10 percent rise in prices and wages nets the government 16-17 percent more. This 6 or 7 percent windfall is not fair, particularly since it is a non-legislated tax increase."

"Inflation-induced bracket creep would increase taxes $100 billion in 1985-86 if indexing were not in effect—$100 billion extra, collected without a single vote being cast in Congress."

Attempts are being made to repeal, revise or delay this reform. Many legislators realize that inflation has provided them with revenue for higher spending without them having to vote, on the record, for higher taxation. Their delay appeals should be fought and defeated.

Even though inflation has dropped dramatically, indexing remains important. Because inflation forces income to rise faster through the bottom brackets, indexing offers the most protection to lower-income individuals and families. For example, even 4.5 percent inflation would increase the percent tax increase on those with less than $10,000 in adjusted gross income.

How Army spends our money

Waste seems to cover every area of government as mowing dew blankets the grass. A recent case involves the U.S. Army, which spent $30,000 to prepare 30,000 multicore pamphlets explaining how to play that old childhood game, King of the Hill.

The booklet, with preface and four pages of detailed rules, says its purpose is to "incorporate leadership, strategy-planning and decision-making skills into the physical fitness training program."

Sen. William Proxmire (D-Wis.), pointed out that kids have learned the rules for decades without military assistance or tax funds.

What next, a pamphlet on Jacks to teach development of manual skills or maybe one on hide-and-seek to learn how to play out a hidden sniper?

Questions evaluation of Madison policemen

To the Editor:
Recently I read where the Madison Board of Police Commissioners were going to have an evaluation of the Madison Police Department.

The idea of having an evaluation of the police department is a good one, however, the way it is being set up leaves some real doubts about the real reason for it.

Is the evaluation and scheduled hearing and so forth to increase the efficiency and provide the taxpayers with the best possible service for their money or is it political reprisals toward the majority of police who are not "yes men" for Mayor Mike Sasyk?

The methods outlined, if you stop and think about it, leads a person to believe it is a continuous vendetta against certain police.

Why? Ask yourself how can the Board of Police Commissioners evaluate fairly or objectively a profession they know little or nothing about?

The Madison board is made up of a housewife, a tow truck driver that does much business with the city and a retired sheriff's metal worker, none of whom have any education or experience in police work prior to their political appointments by Mayor Sasyk.

Then, who is going to evaluate the job being done by the chief of police and the detectives?

If the city administration wants to really serve the citizens as they continually allege, then, why can't we take our police out of the political arena and threats?

MADISON RESIDENTS

SUPPORTS ANCHORAGE CHEESE DISTRIBUTION

To the Editor:
I too am a resident of Anchorage Homes, and I agree with the person who asked the question, why can't we get cheese at Anchorage Homes? You have no idea of how many people are over 80 years old and how many are on crutches and walkers and shut-ins.

We can't all use five pounds of cheese. It can be cut in half. I'd be willing to deliver the cheese to these people on my street that can't get out at all.

I've been in the cheese line too. I know what it is to wait for two hours or more.

THROUGH THE FILES

A rumor that William Champion is to be named postmaster here gained ground today following a visit of Mel Price to the city last Wednesday.

On endorsement of F.A. Garsche, chairman of the Madison County Democratic Committee, Charles Sowell was named acting postmaster and took charge the first of last July. Calling of a Civil Service examination was delayed until the ninth of last January. On that date Mr. Sowell took the examination, as did William Champion and two members of his business family.

However, no report of the examination results has been published as of yet, and the five applicants that took the test are being held in suspense.

Passage of an amended bill, now in the Illinois legislature, to establish a port authority in the Quad-City area was urged Friday in joint telegrams from the three local mayors to this district's legislators at Springfield.

Endorsement of the Port Authority Bill by the mayors followed inclusion of an amendment which would prohibit the agency from acquiring or operating bridges across the Mississippi River and a second amendment that would restrict appointments on the seven-man board to residents of the authority area.

The port authority proposal, developed after a year's study by a special Chamber of Commerce committee, encompasses all of Granite City, Venice and Nameoki townships and part of Chouteau Township. Provision also is made for establishment of airport facilities, if these should be found necessary in the future.

March 11, 1974

If a fad like "streaking" spreads worldwide within a week in the waning days of winter, can spring and the Quad-Cities be far behind?

At 2 a.m. Saturday, a middle-aged man streaked (ran nude) through Bowland, jolting 40 sleepy-eyed bowlers fully awake.

He was a bit out of uniform for the establishment. Instead of bowling shoes, he was attired in tennis shoes. But true to the streaking tradition, he limited his costume to foot apparel.

The streaker entered by the front door and left amid applause and laughter through the side door. Entering a waiting auto, the man left the area immediately.

People visiting the Granite City Post Office on Madison Avenue Wednesday afternoon were asked if President Reagan would be defeated in November, regardless of who wins, would the new president have much effect on the nation's economic condition.

Norman Stavelly, Granite City
"I doubt it. Reagan already has it (the economy) on the upswing. Sure, I've been out of work for a year and a half, but there are more jobs in my field being listed in the want ads now. When he was elected, he told the people that there would be higher unemployment because the cuts he had to impose, but it would turn around. It has."

Charles Morris, Granite City
"I doubt it very much. The job of the presidency requires very specialized training that's available nowhere else. Because of that, I doubt that anyone will make much of a difference, at least not for a few years."

Roger Smith, Pontoon Beach
"Any time you have a change in the administration, you're going to have some effect. Some good, some bad. President Reagan has enacted all of his new 'better' policies and then we could have a new president who would enact his own economic policies and we'll be back at square one."

Arthur Gann, Granite City
"I'm hoping it does. Since he's (Reagan) been in there things have really gone down hill for me. Things seem to be better under the Democrats. There might be a little inflation, but it would be better. One thing I can say for him (Reagan), he had built up our national defense."

Says Ketteler is a good place to get well

To the Editor:
I'm writing this letter in response to the gentleman who had so many gripes about Ketteler Center. It's people like him that kept me from going there, and I stayed sick most of the time and would go on the medical floor seeking help.

But thanks to Michell, a nurse who talked me into going to Ketteler so they could see me and know how to treat my illness of anxiety attacks and hyperventilation. Thanks to all the nurses and doctors, I have never felt this good in years.

It hurts to know there are people on the streets needing help, and someone like him telling all these lies about keeping you locked up. None of this is true. We got to go swimming at the Y and to St. Louis to see all the beautiful flowers, and you keep busy by doing any craft you want.
Every Friday is family night and every day I feel like all the other patients were part of my family.
My friends and relatives couldn't believe what a nice family of patients they are. I really miss everyone and have made many friends there. So if the word, "Ketteler," makes you feel bad, just go and visit and see for yourself as we all need help sometimes in our life, and I really feel different because I felt the same when I heard the name.

If anyone needs help, please feel free to go there to get well.

A FORMER PATIENT

Nurse supports Ketteler Center's programs

To the Editor,
I am writing this in rebuttal to the article printed in the Press-Record (Forum) March 1 concerning the psychiatric ward at SEMC.

I am a registered nurse, and I have worked on the unit for two years. The letter written by the retired navy veteran leads the reader to believe that the only activities that are offered at the Ketteler Center are TV and medication.

The writer fails to mention the group program, occupational and recreational therapy offered at Ketteler. Many hours are spent planning activities to help the patients learn things to occupy their empty hours, and activities that will help them gain more self-esteem.

There are two wards on the unit. One unit is locked where the serious mentally ill are admitted, and one open unit where the more neurotic problems are treated.

The writer said the rules were ridiculous. I think he failed to think about how chaotic the unit would be without some guidelines established that must be followed by all.

All the staff members that work at Ketteler are kind and considerate people. Many times the staff has bought cigarettes for people who do not have the money to buy their own. There is also a large locker where discarded but useable clothing is kept. All the staff contributes to it. There have been times when we have had patients admitted and the only set of clothing they owned is what they have on. None of the staff has to do this, but we do it because we care.

My family cannot understand why I enjoy working on Ketteler B (the locked ward). I have been bitten, kicked, slapped and punched in the jaw by patients, but I understand these people are sick too and, unlike nurses who work on a medical floor, I have to depend on my own skill of communication to help these people.

The staff helps the patients cope with problems they must deal with in their everyday life.
One last comment I feel that needs to be addressed is that the retired navy veteran was not seen by his physician for 14 days. I find this extremely hard to believe. As a rule, most patients are seen 24 hours after admission.

I am sure that the writer saw his stay at Ketteler as a "misfortune." We have had many patients and families who were grateful for a facility such as Ketteler.

KETTILER B NURSE

More support for Ketteler Center's care

To the Editor,
I would like to reply to the navy veteran who criticized the Ketteler Center of St. Elizabeth Medical Center. It's unfortunate he missed some fine positive aspects of Ketteler treatment:

- The occupational and recreational therapy are truly outstanding and of great help to the patients.
- The rooms are spotless and attractive.
- Meals and snacks are excellent.
- A certain accepted method of psychiatric treatment is followed.
- Cooperative patients find it beneficial.
- Social services available are kind, caring and professional.

—The psychiatrists are like any other category of doctors, in that some are better than others. One always has the right to change doctors.

—Medication is always given on doctors' orders only, in any hospital. This is for the patients' well-being and safety.

—As stated by the veteran, the nursing staff is not only caring, but, in my opinion, the biggest help of all in bringing the patient to better mental health.

Unfortunately, sometimes the Ketteler Center is a "home away from home," or a place to come in out of the cold, for some "patients" who find the comfortable atmosphere preferable to the workday world and responsibilities.

As a patient at the center several years ago, I was helped through a crisis, prepared for coping after discharge and social services of SEMC aided me in obtaining a job, which I have held from that day until this.

I am a very grateful former patient of Ketteler Center and wish to thank and salute, every associate in there who helped me when I needed it.

Parents Too Soon program sponsors $100,000 campaign

A $100,000 contract has been awarded to Illinois Information Services for the production of a public-awareness campaign for the "Parents Too Soon" program. The contract was awarded to IIS by the Parents Too Soon program on a competitive bidding basis. Funding is from federal Jobs Bill monies allocated to Illinois.

According to Shirley Randolph, chairman of the Parents Too Soon Inter-Agency Task Force, "The public-awareness campaign will make teenagers throughout Illinois aware of the services available to them through this unique program."

Parents Too Soon is a multi-state agency program that provides a variety of services to teenagers who are pregnant, who already have children or who want to postpone parenthood. Services available through Parents Too Soon include pre- and post-natal care, infant health services, nutrition services, job training and counseling, infant day-care so the teenaged parents can remain in school or on the job, and care for infants born with medical problems.

The state agencies participating in the Parents Too Soon Program are: The departments of Public Health, Public Aid, Children and Family Services, Mental Health and Developmental Disabilities, Dangerous Drugs Commission, the Division of Services for Crippled

Children and the State Board of Education.

"Thousands of Illinois residents between the ages of 11 and 20 are eligible to participate in the Parents Too Soon Program," Mrs. Randolph said. "We are urging teenagers who are pregnant, who are already parents, or who might become pregnant to call our toll-free information line to ask about services available in their areas."

The toll-free information number is 1-800-572-3270.

THE LAW AND YOU

BY RICK REED
Attorney At Law

Let's assume that an individual's home is burglarized and while the crime is being perpetrated, the homeowner sustains a severe beating. As a result of these injuries, the victim requires extensive medical care and psychiatric care. In addition, he is forced to miss four months of work and he has no source of income during this period of time. The purpose of this article is to outline what course of action is available to the victim in this type of situation.

In 1973, the Illinois legislature enacted the Crime Victims Compensation Act. This Act provided that certain situations, a person who was injured as a result of a crime of violence perpetrated against him or who was injured in attempting to help another person in the same situation could apply to the State Attorney General and receive compensation. The final award under this Act is not to exceed $15,000. It should be noted that Illinois was one of the first states to enact this type of legislation.

There are certain requirements which must be met in order to recover under the Crime Victims Compensation Act. The victim must file a notice of intent to file the claim with the Attorney General within six months of the occurrence. He must then file an application with the Court of Claims within one year of the crime. The victim will have to establish that he notified the local law enforcement officials within 72 hours of the perpetration of the crime and that he fully cooperated with the police in apprehension and prosecution of the criminal.

What type of expenses can be recovered under this legislation? The legislature has determined that a victim should be able to recover appropriate medical and hospital expenses, including psychiatric care, as well as loss of earnings and loss of future earnings resulting from disability. Thus the victim in the hypothetical situation described above could be compensated for all necessary medical and psychiatric care as well as the wages he lost during the four month he was unable to work.

It should be noted that a victim of a violent crime can also bring a separate lawsuit against the perpetrator of the crime. Assuming that the assailant in our example committed assault and battery, he could be prosecuted by the State Attorney for this crime and he could also be named as a defendant in a separate civil suit brought by the victim.

Grand plans for downtown

By GEORGEANN MCGEE
of the Press-Record

A motel and grand plaza shopping area located along Grand Avenue are among the top priorities in a downtown redevelopment guide nearing completion for the Granite City Council.

Downtown task force members met Wednesday morning to hear urban consultants suggest four main development projects that include, in addition to the 3-acre motel and shopping area, two apartment housing sites at the former Emerson and McKinley schools and a corridor of Madison Avenue offices to stretch between St. Elizabeth Medical Center and 2nd Street.

The project would cost about $16 million to private investors and open approximately 450 jobs to residents. The city is not initially being asked to make any financial contributions, other than the cost of the study.

It was commissioned last November by aldermen as a last attempt to rekindle interest in the section that historically had been the city's center commercial district. St. Louis firm of Peckham, Guyton, Alberts & Viets, Inc., St. Louis, is receiving $20,000 to identify blocks where tax increment financing could be used to help pay for the rehabilitation. The firm has been involved in other successful increment-financed redevelopment plans, including those in Springfield and Peoria, Ill.

The total area being studied encircles about 50 acres taking in the downtown business district, adjoining residential blocks and a potential 19-acre, light-industrial section located between 16th and 18th streets.

Frank Ruder, senior planner for Peckham, said the study will help bridge the gap for private developers by showing investors potential projects and financial tools available to implement those plans. The two most attractive methods appear to be tax-increment financing coupled with federal Urban Development Action Grants. Without a substantial project like the motel and grand plaza shopping area, those funding avenues would be closed.

The motel and commercial development would involve the razing of several existing properties. The support of council and the community at large would be essential in establishing zoning and property rights to those sections.

The urban planners will present their suggestions to the aldermen the first week of April, after they test their ideas with the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce and other selected groups. Aldermen Sharon Perjak and Paul Fisk, downtown task force members, advised the planners to take this route to show aldermen the project would have the backing of the business community.

Others members of the task force appointed by Mayor Paul Schuler are Alderman Paul Bowler, Seventh Ward; Attorney Eric Robertson of Lueders, Robertson and Konzen law firm; David Nelson, Granite City Park District director of parks and recreation; Albert Hudzik, officer of First Granite City National Bank; Ernest A. Karandjeff Sr., chairman of Granite Trust and Savings Bank; and J.D. Hudson of J.D. Hudson Fine Jewelers; Bob Wolf of Wolf Construction; S. W. Wilson of S.W. Wilson and Co., and Edward Sambuchi, vice president of Granite City Steel Division of National Steel.

The high priority motel project would ideally be a 165-room complex located between 20th and 21st Street on Grand Avenue. A two-story commercial office building might also be included on the 20th Street side. The motel would cost an estimated $6 million to build and an additional $1.2 million needed for land acquisition and demolition. The price tag for the commercial building would be $50,000. The cost would be prohibitive to the private developer without government assistance.

The grand plaza shopping center would house shops, restaurants and be located on Grand Avenue between 19th and 20th streets. The total cost would be about $4.2 million.

His firm has discussed the conversion of McKinley School into apartment units with St. Elizabeth Medical Center representatives, according to Ruder. He said they would consider some type of development at the site. The Peckham study suggests a new 44-unit housing project on the school grounds and a 20-unit complex in the school building itself at an estimated cost of $2.1 million.

A 90-unit housing complex at the site of Emerson School is estimated to cost about $3.6 million. The development of offices along Madison Avenue calls for a two-story building which would cost about $1 million.

To draw all these different projects together, the company suggests a tree-lined boulevard along Niedringhaus Avenue.

Venice sends 'honorable dismissal' notices to 18

By PAT HAY LUTZ
of the Press-Record

After no opposition during a public meeting, members of the Venice School Board voted to send letters of honorable dismissal to 18 teachers in the district.

All teachers at the Venice-Lincoln Technical Center will receive notices, along with two elementary school teachers, Superintendent Robert Vickers said during last night's meeting.

According to Vickers, the 16 teachers at the technical center should be called back in August, providing that the center is funded. The other two teachers may be called back by the end of this school year. Sending of the letters at this time, however, is necessary to meet legal requirements to terminate the teachers for next school year if anticipated funding is not received.

Marieann Hankla, president of the teachers' union, thanked the board for their "concern for the whole picture" in only sending out 18 notices, saying, "If even one less letter is sent out, we are happy."

In other business, Superintendent Robert Vickers announced that the Lions Club fingerprinting project would be conducted on March 16 for students in kindergarten through sixth grade.

Parents of these children will be asked to provide information on forms to be sent on Friday, March 9, and to bring these forms on the day of the actual fingerprinting. These forms will be returned to the parents so that the parents will have a record of their children's prints.

Proponents of the projects hope that this program will assist law enforcement officials in locating or identifying missing children.

Students in the Honor Society will assist school and law enforcement officials with the project by working with students during all phases of the program.

Board members also approved a policy governing student athletes in which the board will require and pay for physical examinations for the athletes, and will also provide instruction, equipment, and facilities for them.

According to the policy, athletes must show proof of insurance to cover injuries and proof of such insurance must be on file before participation is allowed.

Superintendent Vickers also recommended that board members consider moving the end of the school year from May 23 to May 25 because of the use of snow days. The change would also move graduation from May 22 to May 24. Board members did not vote on the recommendation.

PUBLIC HEARING ON COUNTY ZONING CHANGES

The Madison County Zoning Board of Appeals will host a joint public hearing with the Land Use Committee of the County Board at 9 a.m. Monday on proposed changes or amendments in the county's zoning ordinance.

The meeting will be in the basement of the Madison County Courthouse at Edwardsville.

Mother reports child molested

A Granite City mother told police at 6 p.m. Tuesday that her 6-year-old daughter had been raped by a youth about 13 years old. The incident occurred between 3:30 and 5:30 p.m. Tuesday in a residence near the home of the girl, who was able to describe the boy and provide a first name.

The child and her mother were taken by an officer to St. Elizabeth Medical Center, where the youngster was examined by a physician.

The child said she was playing in a neighbor's front yard when the boy came up to her and pulled her by the arm, taking her into a house. They went upstairs to a bedroom where he made her take off her clothing.

After she refused to kiss the boy and said she would tell the police, the boy threatened to harm her if she told anyone, reports said. In telling the officer about the incident, the child started crying and shaking at this point and asked her mother to relate the rest of the details, the officer said.

After the molestation occurred, the boy offered to give her money if she would "play again." It was noted: The girl ran home and told her mother about the incident. An investigation is continuing.

Acid rain remedy proposed by Illinois

Governor James R. Thompson, in testimony before a Congressional panel studying the acid rain problem, proposed a four-point nationwide plan Monday to "avoid a costly pollution control program" while meeting federal environmental standards.

"The debate on ways to control acid rain is one that knows no state boundaries, nor does it lend itself to simple solutions. It should be approached with the intention of developing a national plan to solve a national problem," the governor told members of a House subcommittee on health and the environment during a field hearing in Chicago.

He said legislation seeking installation of expensive pollution control equipment at about 50 U.S. power plants "is prohibitively high and can be better addressed through research and development efforts similar to the ones undertaken in Illinois."

His plan calls for:

1. Increasing federal funds for coal research and development. He said, "We have shown in Illinois that research with government support can lead to worthy solutions. That approach should be applied at the federal level as well."

2. Replacing many of the coal-fired plants that would be affected by the federal legislation with newer, cleaner facilities.

Coupled with requirements under the Clean Air Act to ensure that reductions in sulfur dioxide emissions are made by the end of the century, "this approach would avoid the imposition of severe economic costs and hardship on the Midwest," he testified.

3. Capping federal sulfur dioxide and nitrogen oxide emissions at the current levels, a step that "would contain the spread of acid rain damage until more research is completed."

4. Beginning a program of liming acidic waters that are unable to sustain plant or fish life. "A liming program would revive the ecological life of these waters and is needed to correct this problem," Thompson said.

Taken together, the governor said, such an approach would allow the problem of acid rain to be handled on a national level.

"The cost of coping with acid rain should be seen as a national responsibility. The entire nation should share the expense, just as it will ultimately share the benefits of a solution," he said.

"Illinois consumers should not be required to pay any more for their part of a national solution than those who live anywhere else."

In addition, the governor said, Midwestern coal markets should be preserved under any plan federal officials develop.

Thompson said the plan "must guarantee that the Midwest coal economy will not be disadvantaged — that under the guise of acid rain control we are not simply opening the doors to Western coal interests coming in and grabbing Illinois Basin coal contracts."

Advised she had to return to the bridge and then go the Venice police station, Miss Hendricks complied, but allegedly objected to the procedure before posting a $52 cash bond and being released.

Utility bills focus of public meeting Monday

Carolyn Berning of Springfield, representative of the Illinois Commerce Commission's Consumer Affairs Division, will attend a rescheduled public meeting at 6:30 p.m. Monday, March 12, at the Venice Recreation Center, 305 Broadway, Venice.

The meeting will be sponsored by the newly-formed Venice Utility Consumer Board and is open to all Quad-City area residents interested in learning more about the rules and regulations governing utility companies, including increasing utility charges and service termination.

The Rev. Harold Wilson, president of the Madison Branch of the NAACP (National Association for the Advancement of Colored People), is serving as chairman of the new board, with the Rev. John Henry Williams, president of the Venice Park Board, as co-chairman.

The public information session initially was set Feb. 27, but a severe snowstorm caused its cancellation, Wilson explained.

Also scheduled to attend the March 12 meeting are Loren Foreman, customer services supervisor for Illinois Power Co., and Rick Moore, assistant supervisor, and Dwight Quinn, co-chairman of Operation Turn On (OTO), an East St. Louis consumer-oriented organization.

"The main purpose of the new board is to educate the people that they do have rights as consumers and, in these trying economic times, this is very important," Wilson said.

The minister said earlier, "We want to keep a friendly relationship with Illinois Power, but we also want some answers."

Referring to the high cost of heating bills encountered by all area residents this winter, Wilson said, "The bills have resulted in many people barely able to survive."

"Maybe we can't solve all the problems of high heating bills, but we can help by letting people know what their rights are through the new board," the chairman said.

The rescheduled public session was announced at Tuesday night's Venice City Council meeting by Mayor Tyrone Echols, who commented to the aldermen, "I imagine there will be a large crowd there, so I encourage you to go early."

A second course is a 12-week computer awareness instruction on Thursdays from 6 to 9:45 p.m. with Richard Harmon as the teacher. Cost is $45.

Alleged beating results in removal of 2 other children

The alleged beating of a 2-year-old Madison boy by his step-father, has resulted in the removal of two other children from the home.

Following a preliminary hearing, the two children, a 4-year old daughter of Mrs. Pamela McCullough and a 3-month-old son from the current marriage, were placed in the state's care.

According to Madison County Chief Detective Sgt. Dennis Fischer, the children will be put into foster homes under the custody of the Illinois Department of Children and Family Services.

He said additional hearings on the children will be set at a later time.

The 2-year-old's step-father, Daniel J. McCullough, 18, has been charged with aggravated battery to a child in the beating incident. He is being held in lieu of a $75,000 bond at the Madison County Jail in Edwardsville.

The boy, Terry J. Wallace, is still listed in critical but stable condition at Cardinal Glennon Hospital for Children, St. Louis. Medical officials say he is permanently paralyzed from the shoulders down.

Area schools free from hepatitis

Headlines and radio reports this week that Madison School students have been subjected to an outbreak of hepatitis has concerned some parents needlessly. The school referred to is Madison Elementary School on the Near South Side of St. Louis. Students there are being immunized against the deadly disease.

Unclean conditions in the St. Louis school, including restrooms, was blamed for the outbreak.

There have been no such cases reported at any Quad-City area school, including the Madison, Ill., public schools.

ANTIQUE BICYCLE TAKEN Norman Stawar, 1648 Fourth St., Madison, told police Sunday that a bicycle valued at $200 had been taken from his home. The bicycle, which was made about 1914, is a collector's item. It is not known how entry was gained into the home.

Cong. Price has 2 primary election foes

By BILL WINTER
of the Press-Record

Congressman Melvin Price, 79, now in his 40th year in Congress, hopes to be nominated for a 21st consecutive two-year term in Democratic primary voting March 20.

His principal opponent, St. Clair County Board Chairman Jerry Costello, dropped out of the race. The only primary ballot foes of Cong. Price are Floyd E. Fessler Jr. of Bethalto and Mrs. Cesar (Sandra) Climaco of Belleville. Both have run for public office before.

The veteran local legislator, who lists East St. Louis (426 N. 8th St.) as his address, was born in that city Jan. 1, 1908. His district office is in the East St. Louis Federal Building and his Washington office is 2110 Rayburn House Office Building.

CHAIRMAN of the U.S. House Committee on Armed Services, he also chairs its Research and Development Subcommittee and serves on the subcommittee on seapower and strategic and critical materials.

Cong. Price told the Press-Record last week, "The key national issues now are the economy and foreign affairs, although the emphasis can shift over the next few months. When you come right down to it, though, the only issue in the Congressional election is whether the incumbent has done the job he was elected to do."

"That job is to go to Washington to give his constituents a voice in the federal legislative process, by voting on legislation in a way his best judgment tells him serves the best interests of the nation and, therefore, the best interests of his constituents."

"In other words, the issue is whether he has been a good congressman."

PRICE IS WILLING to be judged on his record, one which has contributed to a long succession of landslide victories.

The local district, now the 21st Illinois District, had a population in the 1960 federal census of 518,964.

Its boundaries consist of: all of Madison and Bond counties; all of St. Clair County except Centerville and Sugarloaf townships; all of the townships of East Fork, Grisham, Hillsboro, South Fillmore, South Littlefield and Washville in Montgomery County; and all of the townships of Breese, Germantown, Irishtown, Looking Glass, Sugar Creek and Wheatfield in Clinton County.

Mrs. Climaco was a candidate in the March 1962 primary and, after losing, ran that November on a one-candidate Bipartisan Good Government ticket.

She and her husband, a physician, have six children. She is a licensed practical nurse and says she is running for Congress because she believes there should be more women legislators.

MRS. CLIMACO for equality but does not favor the Equal Rights Amendment. She has pledged to be recorded on a high percentage of the votes tallied in the House.

She would strive to protect family units, bolster national defense, encourage low interest rates, improve science education, fight drug abuse, upgrade and equalize the quality of schools, expand job opportunities and training, and seek a national climate conducive to productive U.S. firms, so that they can match worldwide competition.

Fessler, 31, married and the father of three, is a lifelong Madison County resident who attended Marquette High School. The Quincy College political science graduate was a Southern Illinois University graduate assistant in developmental studies.

Employed by Shell Oil Co., Wood River, the former Oil, Chemical & Atomic Workers member currently is a member of Operating Engineers Local 525.

HE WAS APPOINTED to the Alton Housing Authority board, resigning after a year due to changing from a staff position to shift work. He was a Democratic committeeman in Alton until moving to Bethalto.

Fessler told the Press-Record, "Cong. Price has done a good job but his age has become a factor. We need a stronger voice in the House."

"I'm a third-generation American with a desire for governmental service. My generation has been hampered by poor economic times but I know in my heart that better days are possible."

"Jobs are the key to many issues which press hard on Americans today. Inability to support oneself opens up a whole realm of major social ills that we face, such as abortions, high crime rates, mental depression, malnutrition and apathy."

"Jobs can be gained for Americans instead of shipping more work overseas—if the right people are elected. It's time for a change."

FESSLER added, "Congress should accept the major blame for the federal budget deficit. I cite pork-barrel politics as one of the reasons for 'red ink.'"

"We need legislation with teeth in it, targeted at individuals and corporations that abuse government contracts. Pentagon waste should be halted."

"I would support an income tax surcharge to reduce the national debt but would apply it only to persons with yearly incomes above $100,000 and companies with profits

CONG. PRICE

"Congress needs to halt the dumping of goods from foreign-subsidized manufacturers. It should change the tax laws that allow U.S. multinationals to expand overseas while cutting back on their American operations."

"PRO-AMERICAN legislation would create more jobs at home and deliver more taxes to our treasury. Less money would go to assistance, since fewer people would be out of jobs. We could then work toward a black-ink budget."

"Everyone agrees that we need to contain federal costs, but when we strike back at those least able to fend for themselves—children, handicapped and elderly—it's time to re-evaluate our thinking."

"Congress should have had a snowball effect which harms workers, small businesses, the suburbs and, finally, the farmers."

"Congress should have blocked the telephone company break-up. It needs to make a firm commitment to synthetic fuels, coal gasification and solar energy technology."

Fessler would oppose Constitutional amendments on a balanced budget, human life and presidential line-item budget veto power.

CONG. PRICE not only has the power for effective service that is associated with top Congressional seniority, but also the benefit of longer and more comprehensive legislative experience than almost anyone in U.S. governmental history.

Educated in East St. Louis parochial schools, St. Louis University High School and St. Louis U prelegal courses, he worked as a newspaper correspondent for the East St. Louis Journal and St. Louis Globe-Democrat and as sports editor of the East St. Louis News-Review.

The former National Baseball Writers Association member served on the St. Clair County Board of Supervisors from 1929 to 1931.

He is married to the former Geraldine M. "Gerry" Freelin and they have a son, William.

Price served as secretary to Congressman Edwin M. Schacht from March 4, 1933, to Jan. 3, 1943. He entered the Army in World War II and, while still in the service, was elected to the 79th Congress on Nov. 4, 1944.

A MEMBER of the American Legion, Amvets, Knights of Columbus, Moose, Eagles, Elks, Hibernalians and National Press Club, "Mel" Price was elected by the House of Representatives in 1967 to serve as the first chairman of the House Committee on Standards of Official Conduct, its first standing committee on ethics.

He resigned that chairmanship at the beginning of the 94th Congress when elected chairman of the Armed Services Committee.

His Congressional duties have included the chairmanship of the Joint House-Senate Committee on Atomic Energy.

Price has been active in support of a broad range of domestic legislation dealing with economic security and development, energy research and development, environmental and flood control, occupational safety, labor, Social Security, urban affairs, education, health and tax reform.

He started his armed forces committee career in his first Congressional term, joining the old House Military Affairs Committee.

HE RECALLS VIVIDLY the night he was elected to the House of Representatives four decades ago. On election evening, he was performing "kitchen police" (KP) duty as a corporal in the Army Quartermaster Corps at Camp Lee, Va. He heard the news while unloading a truck of apples.

Promoted to sergeant and discharged, he took his seat in Congress Jan. 3, 1945, and has been there ever since except for periodic visits to his home district and foreign travel to inspect defense installations.

With the 1946 Legislative Reorganization Act, he became a member of the Armed Services Committee.

Recognized as one of the best informed congressmen on defense matters, Price has fought "drift and indecision in research and development programs" while pushing to assure that "our nation has a defense program that combines minimum waste and maximum efficiency."

SANDRA CLIMACO

Cong. Price was one of the first to work for restoration of American supremacy in air power and for development of nuclear energy, warning in the pre-Sputnik era that Soviet aggression called for "constant vigilance and determination to maintain U.S. scientific and military leadership."

FORMER CHAIRMAN of the Subcommittee on Procurement and Military Nuclear Systems, which deals with military uses of atomic energy, he brought to that panel more than 30 years' experience on the Joint Atomic Energy Committee, where he served as chairman and vice-chairman at various times.

Price resigned his membership on the procurement subcommittee in 1983 to become a member of the Subcommittee on Seapower and Strategic and Critical Materials.

The local congressman was an active supporter of the first nuclear-powered submarine, the nuclear-powered aircraft program, the intercontinental ballistic missile (ICBM) and the distant early warning system.

His stand against weakening this nation's military position while the world remained in danger of war began in 1945, soon after World War II ended. He did not always prevail in this goal, but he remained unwavering in his belief in its importance.

Cong. Price also has been active in the field of international relations as it relates to the U.S. defense posture. He has been particularly concerned with the adequacy of the nuclear safeguard program in North Atlantic Treaty Organization countries and in America's overall nuclear defense strategy.

HE FOSTERED development of the C-5A aircraft, modernization of the airlift fleet and expansion of U.S. airlift capabilities, including improvement of reserve forces.

With his "KP" days still in mind, he has championed the causes of the individual serviceman, including reforming the Military Code of Justice, providing legal defense services overseas, and expanding health care and educational benefits, especially for widows of men killed in the line of duty.

Price also has worked to strengthen re-employment rights for servicemen, to increase military families living stan-

Glik's to open Crestwood store

The Glik Company announced Tuesday that it will open a Glik's Limited store in Crestwood Plaza in August. The 1,000-square-foot store will specialize in ladies' junior fashions.

The Crestwood location will be the fourth Glik's Limited store opened in the last two years. Glik's, a family owned business, also owns and operates nine junior department stores in Illinois.

ARREST MAN, WOMAN ON VARIOUS WARRANTS

Glendal F. Jackson, Jr., 34, of 2013 Johnson Road, was arrested on warrants at 9:15 p.m. Monday.

Two of the warrants were issued by the Madison County Sheriff's Department and alleged harassment by telephone and violation of an order of protection. A third warrant, issued through the Granite City Police Department, alleged aggravated assault.

Jackson was taken into custody at the home of Wendy G. Jackson, 22, of 1807 Kirkpatrick Homes, who also was charged with harassment by telephone in a Granite City warrant. She was released after posting a $52 cash bond.

VANDAL TEARS POOL

A vandal threw a pair of hedge clippers into a swimming pool and damaged the pool liner, Mrs. Sharon Perjak, 3228 Carlson Ave., reported at 5:35 p.m. Monday.

Standards—including boosts in flight pay for highly skilled personnel—and to improve U.S. armed forces' utilization and training.

His admirers conclude that he is an outstanding American patriot—in the spirit and tradition of such leaders as George Washington, Dwight Eisenhower and other military and naval authorities who rendered distinguished service to this nation and the cause of liberty.

Publicity campaign launched on new laws on sex crimes

Governor James R. Thompson has announced that the Illinois Department of Public Aid and Children and Family Services will fund a $100,000 project to help implement the state's new Criminal Sexual Assault Act.

"This law completely changes the way we deal with sex crimes in Illinois and it could be a model for the nation," Thompson said. "But it represents such a change from the past that we will never realize its full potential unless we educate the police, prosecutors and public on how to use it."

The funds will be administered by the Illinois Coalition of Women Against Rape (ICWAR), which worked with the Illinois House Rape Study Committee to draft the new law.

The Criminal Sexual Assault Act does away with the old criminal charges of rape and deviate sexual assault, and replaces them with criminal sexual assault, aggravated criminal sexual assault, criminal sexual abuse and aggravated criminal sexual abuse. It goes into effect July 1.

The grant will go toward the writing, production and distribution of training and informational materials. The educational project is designed to inform the public of its rights under the law and to work with law enforcement agencies on how to implement the law.

The grant also will fund the production of a 25-minute movie on the new law to be distributed to interested groups throughout the state.

Approximately $140,000 will be provided by the Illinois Department of Public Aid (IDPA) and up to $20,000 more will come from the Department of Children and Family Services (DCFS). The money will come from federal social service block grants that the state administers.

At the news conference in the State of Illinois Building in Chicago, IDPA Director Gregory L. Coler called the law a "more humane and understanding way of helping victims of sexual crimes."

"But the changes in the law involved rewriting 83 pages of the Illinois criminal statutes. A massive educational campaign is necessary to ensure that the public derives the full benefit of the new act."

The Criminal Sexual Assault Act was written from various women's advocacy groups who had called for a modernization of Illinois laws dealing with sexual crimes. It replaces eight old criminal statutes with one new law.

Under the old law, rape and deviate sexual assaults were Class X offenses punishable by no less than six years in prison. Critics contended that the severity of the sentence made it difficult to obtain convictions in some cases. In addition, the severity of the punishment resulted in plea-bargaining downward to non-sexual offenses in some cases.

The new law provides classifications of sexual crimes that range downward from Class X to a Class A misdemeanor, meaning a defendant could get probation for some offenses.

The main advantage of the new law is that all sexual crimes, regardless of the age, gender or relationship of the defendant or victim, are treated uniformly, said Polly Foskin, executive director of ICWAR.

"Public and private agencies have to work together to make this law work," she said. "And I'm glad that the governor agrees that we need a statewide project to see that the new statutes are quickly and smoothly implemented."

According to the Department of Law Enforcement figures, there were approximately 2,500 reported rapes in Illinois last year. DCFS figures show about 5,170 allegations of sexual abuse of children.

Preliminary figures for 1984 indicate an increase in these crimes and critics of the old rape and deviate sexual assault laws charged that most of these crimes have traditionally gone unreported.

Agricultural Production Loan

State Treasurer James H. Donnewald has announced that he is renewing the Agricultural Production Loan Deposit Program for another year.

"March 1 is the beginning of the farm production loan cycle for most agricultural banks," Donnewald said. "We have notified the banks who have participated in this effort in the past that we will maintain our commitment for another year."

Under a linked-deposit approach, the treasurer has matched low-interest operating loans to farmers with placement of a like amount of state funds in the participating banks. "We matched some $52 million in operating loans last year," Donnewald reported. "Although the program has been limited to the basic level at which it began in 1980, we are hoping that at some point in the future we may be able to expand it and perhaps include new banks."

Most of the loans being made under this linked-deposit approach were at the level of 10.5 to 11.5 percent this past year, Donnewald reported. This was several interest points below prevailing rates for such production loans in most areas of the state.

The program renewal was announced as the Treasurer's Office was presented a final repayment of $19,946 from the Illinois Farm Development Authority for a start-up appropriation of $60,000 the General Assembly gave IDFA in fiscal 1983.

The treasurer's office drafted the original legislation for IDFA as a supplement to the Agricultural Production Loan Deposit Program—which specifically excludes equipment or land loans where payments are amortized over several years. The IDFA has been making periodic repayments to the General Revenue Fund since September 1983.

Robert Nickel of Concord, in Morgan County, speaking for the IDFA board, said all loan activity presently is frozen because of pending legislation out of the House Ways and Means Committee (H. R. 4170) which has stopped all industrial revenue bond activity—except unissued amounts from bonds issued prior to Dec. 31, 1983.

J. William Wallis, executive director of IDFA, said bond legal counsel across the country cannot give rulings of tax-exempt status to anything originating after Jan. 1, 1984, because of the anticipated effective date of the pending legislation.

He said farm development loans would be restricted. As the bill now stands, Wallis said, a first-time farmer, to be eligible for assistance, would not be allowed to have any direct or indirect ownership interest in any farm land, and no used farm equipment or property could be financed via an industrial revenue bond.

Both Nickel and Wallis stressed that the IDFA has issued more loans to more farmers in its short span of existence than any other entity in the nation. Between September 1982 and Dec. 31, 1983, the authority closed 939 different loans totaling $46,025,751. Under the individual bond approach which the IDFA has used, 938 such bonds were issued to the lending institutions. Of the loans approved prior to Dec. 31, Wallis said 83 percent were for depreciable property such as machinery, grain bins or breeding livestock and 41 percent were for land purchases.

Another six percent went to cover soil conservation projects and a handful of agribusiness loans also were approved, he said.

March 26 deadline for crop disaster loans

Gary L. Mersinger, county supervisor for the Farmers Home Administration, has announced that Monday, March 26, is the final date that applications for Disaster Emergency Loans may be accepted in Madison and St. Clair counties. Applications received by the deadline may be processed later.

Loans are made to eligible farmers whose 1983 crop yields were reduced 30 percent or more due to the drought conditions beginning June 1, 1983.

Applications are being accepted at the local office of Farmers Home Administration, 1304 Hillsboro, Edwardsville, Ill. 62025, Mondays through Fridays. Those who wish to have an application sent to them by mail may call the county office at 1-656-8477.

Announcement Expected Soon Speculation: Graham new SUE cage coach

Speculation: to engage in a business deal where a good profit may be made at considerable risk. To reflect.

from The Merriam-Webster Dictionary

When newspaper people believe they have all the facts, and in their hearts and minds believe they have all the information needed for a story but can't prove it, it's ultimately frustrating.

Sometimes, reporters will try to write around the holes in a story, concentrating only on the determined facts and mention the unverified facts only in passing. Hoping to shed some light on it later or even let the reader make his own decision on the facts which are presented. "Reading between the lines," if you will.

Often great stories are broken this way. Putting apparent facts together upon speculation, held together with just a thread of evidence.

That's kind of the way things are about Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville naming a new basketball coach. Few facts, but a heckuva lot of speculation.

Obviously, reporters' reputations are made and, yes, even broken on speculation.

Sports on the Run

By Al Gerstenecker

Take Woodward and Bernstein, for example. But that's another story.

Recently, there have been several stories written about SIUE's not-yet-known men's basketball coach. Stories have abounded in nearly every area newspaper. Some have appeared in the Press-Record. Most are supported by interviews and conversations with the parties involved while others are not.

All stories, according to Dr. James Buck, director of public affairs at SIUE, are stories of speculation. "I don't believe we've even announced who the finalists are," Buck said Wednesday afternoon. "One newspaper just came up with three names."

Now there appear four names as finalists for the position. One name which has been on the speculated list of finalists all along is that of Madison Coach Larry Graham.

Fact: Graham admits applying for the job. Fact: Buck earlier admitted that Graham had met with him about the coaches position. Speculation: Graham's new SIUE cage coach. For logical people, I believe that's called modus tollens. If A is true and B is true, then A and B when combined are true. Sometimes, but not all the time.

The speculation continues. Graham has been named the coach, but because of the 'Trojans' extended season, SIUE, as a matter of protocol and courtesy, is delaying the announcement that Graham has been selected.

Fact: The other coaches involved, at least those speculated to be finalists, have concluded their seasons. If it were anyone but Graham, it's my opinion that SIUE would name its new coach, get its new season rolling.

John Palchiff, Madison School Superintendent, said Wednesday, that he "has heard nothing official yet." Although Palchiff would not elaborate, that could mean he's had at least some confidential conversations with SIUE about the coaching position. But again, that too is speculation.

Palchiff, saying that he would be very happy if Graham were to get the SIUE position, is more concerned about the impact any announcement — for or otherwise — would have on the remainder of the 'Trojans' season.

"Right now, we're still battling for what may be another state championship. Any announcement will have some effect on the team or Larry. I think SIUE has used good judgment in its decision not to say anything yet."

When asked if it was he who requested that SIUE not announce its new coach yet, Palchiff simply replied, "I don't think I can answer that."

Similarly, Dr. Buck was equally as tight-lipped. "We are discussing the position with someone," Buck said Wednesday. "But that's as much as had been said. Most of what has been said thus far is speculation. The kind of thing I wouldn't bet my bank account on," Buck said.

In any case, SIUE will have a new basketball coach sometime next week, Buck said.

In the middle of this thing sits Graham, or the new coach whoever it may be. Graham, apparently wise to what's going on, is saying nothing.

He's just pondering the rest of this and next season whether it be with Madison or SIUE.

Tigers bust Warriors from post-season play

By ALAN L. GERSTENECKER
Sports Editor
of the Press-Record

COLLINSVILLE — For Granite City High School's basketball team, this season has been a down, then up, and then down again experience. Tuesday night the Warriors' season ended on the downswing as they fell to Edwardsville 68-58 in the first round of the Collinsville Class AA Regional.

The Warriors ended their roller coaster-like season with a 10-16 record. Following last weekend's 68-54 victory over Clive Memo (Bethalto), Warrior coach Don Deterding thought his cagers may have finally ended the holdovers and started an upward trend.

At last, the flu bug which had stricken his team for a month had run its course. And, their bout with injuries was now a thing of the past. Finally, the Warriors were healthy, or so it appeared.

Deterding's optimism was premature.

Monday afternoon: The Warriors are practicing one final time before they begin post-season play. Kurt Hylla, the Warriors' 6-foot 2-inch junior forward, sprains an ankle while attempting a rebound as the team practices the full-court press.

In a few short moments, optimism turns to pessimism. Hylla is lost for the game and the Warriors hopes for a victory in their first-round game of the regional are dealt a severe blow. Hylla's forward position may be filled, but his talents are not replaceable.

In a pre-regional interview, Deterding said if the Warriors were to defeat Edwardsville, Hylla must have a good game. "Whenever Hylla plays well, we usually win or play very close. When he's in, he seems to give confidence to the rest of the team," Deterding said.

Not only did Hylla not have a good game Tuesday, but his time on the hardwood was limited to the time he spent walking — with the aid of crutches — to find his seat.

"We're just going to have to make the best of it," Deterding said going into the game.

Indeed the Warriors did make the best of it. But even their best Tuesday was not equal to Edwardsville's. GERALD Booker, who Deterding calls his "sixth man," was more than up to the challenge. The 6-foot 2-inch senior scored 10 points for the Warrior cause.

"Booker did a super, super job for us tonight," Deterding said. "He worked his tail off out there for us. I couldn't have been more happy with his performance."

But there's something psychological about not having your starting five out there. It's like they realize they're not up to full strength and everyone tries to make up for it," Deterding said.

Hylla's absence was most noticeable on defense. For much of the game, the Tigers used the inside pass for easy, high percentage shots. In fact, through the first half, Edwardsville shot 60 percent from the field, capitalizing mostly on Granite City's ineptness inside.

"BOOKER'S a heckuva defensive player, but Hylla's probably our best defensive player. Sure, we missed Hylla's scoring," Deterding said. "But I think the middle would have closed up a little more if we'd have had Hylla."

Edwardsville, a changed team from the first time the two teams met, jumped to a 5-0 lead just two minutes into the first quarter. Cap-italizing on the inside game, Jody Rogers scored from underneath.

Jeff Gray put the Warriors on the board at the three-minute mark of the opening quarter when he sank a jumper from the left side, 5-2. Joe Gray, Scott Cant and Jeff Gray, the Warriors lacked the defense to slow the Tigers who dashed to a 18-11 first-quarter lead.

Things were no better for the Warriors in the second quarter either. The Tigers converted their seven-point first quarter lead into a 15-point halftime lead.

"Defense," Deterding said. "The stonewall defense. The first half there wasn't any on our part and the second half we played better defense, but we just couldn't come back after being that far down at the half."

Switching from the Warriors' usual 1-2-2 defense to a 1-3-1 defense in the second half, the Warriors slowed the Tiger offense. In fact, after going to a more inside-oriented defense, the Warriors outscored the Tigers 33-28 in the second half.

ALMOST AS soon as the third quarter began, the Warriors began to whittle away at the Tiger lead. Art Williams stole a pass intended for Todd Spiller and dashed the length of the court for a layup.

Edwardsville's P. J. Riley responded for a jumper to preserve the Tiger lead, but Cant and Jeff Gray each combined for eight points — four each — to cut the Tiger lead to seven, 35-42. That, however, was as close as the Warriors ever got to catching Edwardsville.

By the end of the third quarter, the Tigers lengthened their lead again to nine, 48-39.

In the fourth quarter, Granite City flurried again with catching Edwardsville. Booker, after pulling down a Jeff Gray rebound, moved the Warriors back to within seven, 48-41.

BUT AGAIN, Edwardsville held on to its seven-point lead throughout most of the quarter before opening up a 10-point lead at the end of the game.

"This last half of the season was a nightmare," Deterding said after the game. "With the injuries and flu, it was an absolute nightmare. We went downhill. Not because the kids didn't try, but because of the injuries and flu."

Encouraged by the Warriors' performance in the second half, Deterding said the season ended on a positive note despite the Warriors' losing record.

"I was real happy with the way the kids battled back in the second half. But if we're going to do better next year, we've got to be stronger. Right now we're very weak out there. I mean lift weights," Deterding said. "You can't play this game unless you're physical. You've got to have finesse, don't get me wrong. You can't just bull your way around. But they're starting you let you play a little more around here in the South (Southwestern Conference)."

"I think that too, may have been some of the difference here tonight, especially down the stretch. They were just a little more physical than we were."

The victory puts Edwardsville in Friday's Collinsville Regional championship game against the host Kahoks at 7:30 p.m. The Kahoks easily defeated fourth-seeded Foxana in the first game Tuesday night, 93-52.

The Warriors' loss to Edwardsville was the second to the Tigers this season. Granite City defeated the Tigers in both teams' first meeting of the year, 64-45. That win, incidentally, was the Warriors' first of the season.

Edwardsville came back late in the season, on Feb. 24, to defeat the Warriors 72-49 to gain a regular season split.

MHC boxers prepare for semifinal round in Golden Gloves tourney

ST. LOUIS COUNTY — Danny Mendoza and Steve Gancheff, the Mexican Honorary Commission's two entrants in the Annual St. Louis Regional of the Golden Gloves Boxing Tournament, were first-round winners last weekend and have earned berths in this Friday's and Saturday's semifinal-round bouts.

Mendoza, a 165-pound open-division boxer, scored a second-round TKO Friday over Brady Williams of Pop Myles' Boxing Club of East St. Louis.

The victory pits Mendoza in a semifinal bout this Saturday with Kevin Bonada of the South Side (St. Louis) Boxing Club. The matchup is slated as the 15th bout of the evening. All bouts will be held at the North County Recreation Complex along this weekend.

GANCHEFF, a 119-pound novice boxer, picked up a three-round decision over Orlando Hughes of the North Side (St. Louis) Bombers Saturday. Gancheff received a bye Friday into Saturday's second round.

Like Mendoza, Gancheff's victory last weekend puts him in a semifinal bout this weekend. In that semifinal match slated for Friday, Gancheff will meet Laron Thomas of the West End (St. Louis) Boxing Club in the sixth novice bout of the evening. Should Gancheff defeat Thomas, he will battle for the Golden Gloves 119-pound novice championship on Saturday at the North County complex.

Should Mendoza win his semifinal match Saturday, he will not vie for the championship until Saturday, March 24. Unlike the novice-division boxers, the open division finalists compete in the annual "championship show" at St. Louis' Kiel Auditorium.

THE NAME "Golden Gloves" was born in 1923 when a Chicago sports editor, Arch Ward, originated an amateur boxing tournament designed to help youth and promote amateur competition.

The tournament's sole material reward was a tiny golden glove, symbol of an amateur champion-ship, which went to the winner of each weight division. Thus the name "Golden Gloves" took on significance and the tournament was officially born.

The first Golden Gloves tournament was held in 1923 in the Chicago Stadium under the sponsorship of the Chicago Tribune, whose sports editor, Ward, conceived the idea. The tournament was tremendously popular and the idea of a big amateur show was launched successfully.

A game Golden Gloves tournament was not held until 1928, however, because of legal technicalities. Boxing was legalized in Illinois that year. Then the tournament was revived, with the Chicago Tribune and the New York Daily News beginning the first of yearly amateur tournaments for local boys only. But soon requests poured in from boys in other cities who wanted to compete. The result was a national network of tournaments of which St. Louis is one.

The North County Recreation Complex is located about 15 minutes from Granite City. Take Interstate 270 west to Missouri route 367 north. Proceed on 367 to Redman Road (the second stop light on 367). Turn left on Redman and proceed a half mile to Jerries Road. Turn right on Jerries which will eventually lead to the complex.

Boxing begins at 7:30 p.m. Admission is $4 for adults and $2 for children under 12.

Warrior cagers lose two heartbreakers

By PAULA WISE
of the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — The Granite City Warrior girls' basketball team lost two heartbreakers this week. After losing 47-45 to Gateway East Conference rival Edwardsville Monday night, the Warriors lost another conference battle Thursday night to Belleville Althoff, 32-31.

Although the scores of both games were similar, the games could not have been more different. In Monday's game the Warriors started off rather sluggish scoring only eight points in the first quarter. In Thursday's game the Warriors began the game with one of their best quarters ever scoring 20 points.

THE ELEMENT that the games did have in common was defense. The Warriors played some of their best defense of the season in these two conference match-ups. However their new found defensive strength has also caused the Warriors some problems.

"The girls are starting to hustle more, but in doing so they are also picking up more fouls," said Warrior Coach Gordon Galbreath of his team's problems.

Debbie Brandt, the Warrior's center, who has fouled out early in the last two ball games, was of special concern to Galbreath.

"Debbie is rough housing it in there. She's running over people.

Her mind is just not mentally set in the game. She had a better offensive night but still had trouble with the fouls," said Galbreath.

FREE THROWS are another thing which have plagued the Warriors lately. After shooting a lowly 19 percent from the charity stripe Monday night the Warriors rebounded to shoot 50 percent, still not too impressive a figure, in Thursday's ball game.

"Our free throws are what beat us," said Galbreath after Monday's loss. "If we could have hit a few of those we could have won this game."

Despite the poor performance in the free throw line, the Warriors still had a chance to win the Edwardsville game in the final seconds. With three seconds left in the game Edwardsville's Sue Eberhardt committed a violation while shooting a free throw to turn the ball over to the Warriors.

UNFORTUNATELY for the Warriors three seconds wasn't enough time as the buzzer went off before the Warriors could put up a shot.

The loss appeared to spark the Warriors as they came out Thursday night ready to do well.

In the first quarter, the Warriors were led by Debbie Brandt who had eight of her 12 points in the first quarter. The scoring talents of the Warriors along with their defensive abilities gave them the lead after the first quarter 20-13.

After the first quarter the Warriors were able to maintain their defense, but their offense faltered. Althoff outscored Granite City for the remaining three quarters.

THE THIRD quarter proved to be the most fatal for the Warriors as they were outscored 14-10. Althoff also took their first lead of the game during this quarter. With 3:12 left in the quarter Althoff's Missy Sickman hit a short jumper to put her team on top. That lead was short lived, however, as the Warriors rebounded to gain a one-point lead at the end of the quarter.

With two of the Warriors tallest players out of the lineup, Althoff went to the inside, using its rebounding ability to score points and pull to a 52-49 lead. Loretta Cox kept the Warriors in the game by hitting a short jumper to get her team back to within one.

AGAIN the Warriors had a chance to win the game in the final seconds. After Althoff's Peggy Paszkiewicz missed the first shot of a one and one it left the Warriors 11 seconds to put make a basket.

With three seconds left Lisa Lilley put up a shot that went way wide of the basket. Although Lilley appeared to have been fouled on the shot nothing was called and another chance for a Warrior upset was ended.

Despite the two losses Coach Galbreath is pleased with his team's overall performance.

"They have been improving, especially the last two games. We almost beat two teams that beat us badly the first time we played them," said Galbreath.

WITH regional just around the corner Galbreath would like to think things are looking up for his team.

"I think we are starting to peak right now. Hopefully we'll reach our peak next Monday or maybe Thursday night," Galbreath said referring to the coming regional.

The Warriors are the second seed in the coming regional and will meet third-seeded Wood River in second game of Monday's first-round games. Prior to the Warrior contest, top seeded Edwardsville will meet fourth seeded Roxana. That game is scheduled to begin at 6:30 p.m.

The regional championship game is scheduled for 7 p.m. Thursday. All games will be played at Granite City High School's Memorial Gymnasium.

2 Corinthians 6:18... "I will be their God, and they shall be MY PEOPLE."

The wisdom of God is unfathomable. He truly is in control of all His creation. As He administers His power throughout the universe He still ministers to mankind personally. Think of this! God will be our God, and we shall be His children. He can talk to us. Bless us. Chastise us. Our religious organizations, our churches, our traditions, and neither give God to us nor take God away from us.

Do not misunderstand me. We need our organizations, we need our churches. They help us and we help them, however, God dwells in His people. He wants to dwell in you.

Why not take time now to pray. Ask Him to touch your heart, your life, and be ready to experience His presence.

Your Heavenly Father says ask, and it shall be given.

Why not do it today?

Lincoln's home is DUV program topic

The history of Abraham Lincoln's home in Springfield, Ill., was the topic of a program presented by Mrs. Arline Fox, patriotic instructor, of Aunt Becky Young Tent 92, Daughters of Union Veterans, at the monthly meeting of the organization.

Lincoln, the 16th president of the United States, purchased the two story frame house for $1,500 in 1844 and in 1971 the National Park Service took over the management of the dwelling, Mrs. Fox explained. The house brings in a steady flow of tourists, attracting about 400,000 visitors each year, she added. In keeping with the subject, Mrs. Joyce Moran read an article on Lincoln's heartaches through his family life and as president of the nation during the bitter years of the Civil War.

Members met at Ervay's Restaurant for the luncheon and business session conducted by Mrs. Bessie Seibold, president.

Tables were decorated in a patriotic motif in conjunction with February being Lincoln's birthday month.

Chaplain Maud Lewis gave the opening prayer followed by all repeating the pledge to the flag.

During the business segment Mrs. Irma Taylor gave the secretary's report and Mrs. Louise Thompson read the financial statement.

Plans were also discussed for the 50-year celebration of Aunt Becky Young Tent 92, with final arrangements to be announced later.

After the meeting games were played and a special prize was won by Joyce Moran. Hostess for the day was Janette Kraus.

BAC faculty ratifies 2-year contract

Belleville Area College faculty ratified a two-year contract that symbolizes "a new spirit of cooperation" last Friday, March 2.

BAC President Dr. Bruce R. Wissore and Faculty Union President Ken Pinzke announced faculty approval of the contract saying it marks the beginning of a good working relationship.

THE CONTRACT, which is effective at the beginning of the fall 1984 semester, calls for a six percent pay increase the first year and a wage freeze the second year. It represents the second wage freeze in three years; the faculty agreed to a wage freeze during the current year.

The agreement calls for a 25 percent reduction in the salary scale for faculty members hired after the contract takes effect. It also removes hiring and salary restrictions that will expand the BAC Board of Trustees' ability to hire parttime instructors.

Wissore praised the faculty for approving the contract. "Acceptance of the provisions of this contract by the faculty marks a milestone in the history of Belleville Area College," he said. "Forces largely external to the college have made our financial situation very difficult. In fact, only three of the state's 39 community college have fewer dollars per student than BAC.

"OUR FACULTY has recognized this situation and has responded by ratifying this contract," Wissore said. "I am really proud of them. They have taken the lead in laying the groundwork to improve our financial position and to ensure we continue to provide a quality education to our students."

"They aren't meeting us halfway; they have gone far beyond that," Wissore said.

Speaking for the faculty, Pinzke said the contract is a positive step. "I am pleased with this contract; it established firmly the trust relationship," he said. "What we've said is we want to work together."

"CONSIDERING THE financial situation of the college, we think we have done our part to relieve some of the pressure," he said. "We want only the best for our students. That involves materials in the classroom and we don't want to take that out of the pie for salaries."

This marks the third year in a row BAC faculty and administration have reached agreement on a contract quickly. Negotiations began Friday, Feb. 24. The BAC Board of Trustees will meet Monday in a special session, and ratified the contract.

JTPA program at BAC trains residents for jobs

Belleville Area College, in response to recent federal legislation, is training 46 area residents for jobs in local industry.

Under the Jobs Training Partnership Act (JTPA), which replaces the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA), representatives of private industry identify training needs. Input from the private sector is required by the JTPA legislation in an attempt to make training relevant to current job-market needs in specific locales.

BAC HAS taken an active lead in meeting JTPA needs by offering training through four programs, including Security Guard, Nurse Assistant, Introduction to Computers and Chemical Technology.

"BAC is one of the major suppliers of training in this service area," said Dr. Robert Eskridge, BAC academic dean and coordinator of the training programs offered by BAC. The service area covers five counties, St. Clair, Clinton, Washington, Monroe and Randolph.

The college is also offering JTPA training in Madison County through its Granite City Center. Five Madison County residents are enrolled in the aviation program at the center.

FOR INFORMATION on JTPA, interested persons may call the Intergovernmental Grants Department of St. Clair County in Belleville, 1-277-6790.

FOR PET'S SAKE

by James R. Hill, D.V.M.

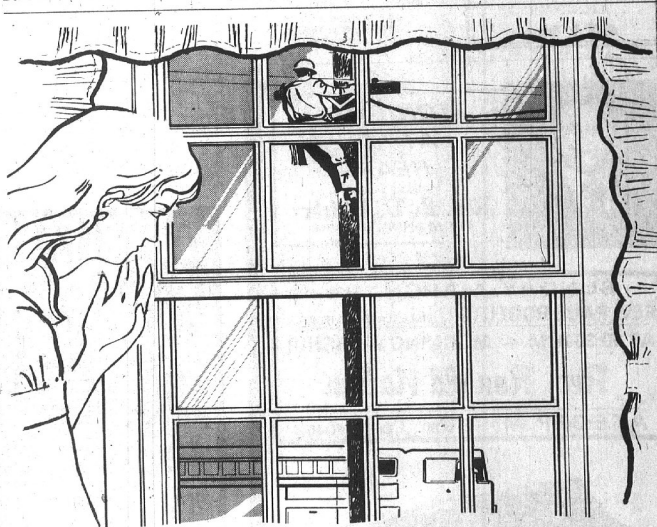

JOGGING WITH YOUR DOG

It's a great idea to take your dog with you when you go jogging. But you should consider taking a few precautions before you start him out on this routine.

Just as a person should have a medical checkup before commencing a program of rigorous exercise, so should a dog. Get your veterinarian's OK before starting. And don't overdo it at first. Dogs, just like people, have to build up their endurance. This is particularly true for puppies. They have to build up their strength and lighten up their pads.

Be careful in hot weather! Dogs overheat easier than people. In the summer, try to jog during the cooler times of the day, early morning and evening. And never feed your pet until you've finished exercising. A meal beforehand may make your dog lethargic and could also cause heat, a serious condition that sometimes can be fatal. Finally, always keep your dog leashed when running.

150th anniversary of religious organization

This week marks the 150th anniversary of the founding of the Sisters Adorers of the Blood of Christ, a community active in the United States for more than 100 years. On March 4, 1934, Maria De Mattias, a young woman from the mountain area of central Italy, opened a school in the small village of Acuto, Italy. This was the beginning of an active congregation of religious nuns who have been ministering through education, health care, social services, evangelism and other services for 15 decades.

During the early years of the foundation, Maria and her nuns taught children and adults and gave retreats for women in the isolated mountain villages and in Rome. In 1880 a group of contemplative nuns from Germany, also dedicated to the growing community. When religious communities were suppressed in their country 10 years later, these nuns came to America and settled in the Peopoles, Ill. area to serve the many German immigrant families. It is from there they moved to Ruma, Ill., 1876, and established the present provincial headquarters of the ASC Sisters.

"Non-liturgical churches are finding fruitful spiritual emphasis in the Lenten season," he observed. "Since all of us tend to forget our obligations and commitments, Bible-believing, spirit-filled Christians need the reminders and renewal of special seasons," the pastor added.

"We share a simple meal together and then enjoy a time of worship and fellowship," he observed. Groups within the congregation take turns hosting the mid-week event. The series climaxes on Maundy Thursday when the congregation will enjoy a traditional meal followed by the Passover-Communion Service. Participation is open.

Frank Dutko active on four county committees

By BILL WINTER
of the Press-Record

Frank Dutko, 57, a retired Madison police chief who is completing his fourth year on the Madison County Board, seeks reappointment and reelection this year. He is unopposed.

A Democrat, he was a Second Ward alderman (1977-80) after retiring. He won the county position in both 1980 and 1982 and now is a candidate for a four-year term.

"I am chairman of the License and Liquor Committee. I also serve on the Right of Way Committee, Personnel Committee and Sewer Committee," Dutko told the Press-Record.

"As the public's representative in District 24, I will serve the people to the best of my ability, and with input from them."

"I will continue to make decisions—and vote for sound financing and fair treatment—for all people in Madison County."

His district mainly consists of urban areas in sections of Madison and Granite City. His committees deal with numerous unincorporated areas and countywide issues.

Dutko's 27-year police career included the office of chief of police from 1970 to 1977. Before becoming chief, he was a sergeant one year, lieutenant three years and captain three years.

A Madison resident 51 years who was born in Oklahoma, he lives at 1908 Fifth St., Madison. He and his wife, Sara, are the parents of five—Cindy, Kelly Ann, Robin Lynn, Frank and Becky—ranging in age from 28 to 21.

Dutko attended Harris School in Madison and graduated from Madison High School in 1945. He attended Northeast Missouri State College at Kirksville, Belleville Area College and the University of Illinois Police Training Institute.

A Navy veteran, he is a member of Madison Amvets Post 204 and the Nativity of the Virgin Mary Eastern Orthodox Church in Madison.

Dutko for seven years was a volunteer chairman of the Madison County cancer fund crusade. He was a charter committee member of Explorer Post 10-4, a law enforcement scouting unit.

Past Cub Pack 47 treasurer, he participated in many Tri-Cities Area United Way campaigns and served on the Coordinated Youth Services board.

At one time an investigator for the Madison County state's attorney staff, Dutko is a veteran of the St. Louis metropolitan area police departments' major case squad.

He is a former board member of the Metropolitan Enforcement Group of Southwestern Illinois, an agency that fights illegal drug activity.

Responding to a disturbance call this week from Hardee's Restaurant, 2642 Madison Ave., officers alleged finding three youths seated at a table with a 15-year-old boy having a cup of sloe gin in front of him.

Another youth, John A. Powers, 18, of 2212 Illinois Ave., allegedly was seated in a parked car on the lot with a bottle of grain alcohol between his legs. He was charged with illegal possession of alcohol and released upon posting his driver's license.

Darenberg new regional Employment Security head

Sally A. Ward, administrator of the Illinois Bureau of Employment Security, has named Richard G. Darenberg to the position of Bureau regional manager of the Southwest Region, effective March 1.

Darenberg, a graduate of the University of Oklahoma at Norman, has a master's degree from Webster College in St. Louis. He recently retired from the U. S. Air Force, where he served 32 years.

In his new position, Darenberg will be responsible for the field operation of the Bureau's Job Service and Unemployment Insurance programs administered through the local offices in the Southwest Region. These offices are located in Alton, Belleville, East St. Louis, Granite City, Edwardsville, Litchfield and Fairview Heights.

The selection of regional managers is part of the Bureau's reorganization of offices throughout the state. The new system will combine two components—Unemployment Insurance and Job Service—under one roof in an effort to reduce the time and paperwork spent during the initial stages of the application process.

Darenberg lives in O'Fallon. His office will be in Belleville.

Dixon's subcommittees are: Tactical Warfare, which has jurisdiction over most of the research and development and procurement for the conventional ground and air programs; Preparedness, which deals mainly with readiness issues and has jurisdiction over operations and maintenance, and Manpower and Personnel, on which he will serve as ranking Democratic member. The subcommittee has jurisdiction over personnel matters, including pay, for military and civilian employees, both on active duty and in the Reserves.

Workshop on applying for grants

The National Freshwater Fishing Hall of Fame tried to get a grant to build a game fish over half a block long and five stories tall. They tried, but were not successful. They did get $250,000 from local bankers, however.

There are grants for almost every purpose. The Fats and Proteins Research Foundation funds research into the uses of poultry. The Herb Society of America also makes grants.

"Whether you like fish or fowl, with or without seasoning, there are grants for just about every purpose," says Norton Kirtz, president of The Grantsmanship Center, the country's largest fundraising training organization. From March 19 to 23, the center is conducting a week-long training program in St. Louis on the art of getting grants. During the past 11 years, the center has trained more than 30,000 persons from private and government agencies in how to raise funds for their projects.

"There are more than 250,000 private agencies, and thousands of government departments competing for grants," says Kirtz. "Federal funds have been slashed. Foundations and corporations receive 10 or more proposals for every one they can support. Skill in grantsmanship is more important than ever before," he said.

The American Red Cross is sponsoring this workshop in St. Louis. Participants from more than 20 local organizations will learn how to find government, corporate and foundation grants. They'll learn how to present themselves to grantmakers and how to write successful proposals. "They'll actually write a complete proposal during the week," says Kirtz. "More than half of these proposals will be sent for funding, and our experience shows that half of those will get grants," he adds.

This training program is open to the staff of any local agency. There is a tuition charge and scholarships are available for organizations with small budgets. Information on the grantsmanship workshop can be obtained from Ms. Barbara Deesey at the American Red Cross, 1-314-997-3130.

BURGLAR TAKES COINS, JEWELRY, MEDICATION

Officers checked the home of Ray Smith, 2801 Wayne Ave., at 8:45 p.m. Monday, where a rear door was forced open and it was believed an intruder may still be inside. A search failed to reveal anyone in the dwelling.

Missing, however, was a strong box and file cabinet containing a diamond cluster necklace and matching earrings, valued at $800, several old coins worth $400 and an antique gold pocket watch valued at $480. A portable radio and headset worth $79 and two bottles of prescription medicine also were taken.

Volunteers & Needs

Quad-City area residents are being asked to lend their skills and goods to help not-for-profit organizations provide assistance to others. The public is urged to act on the following requests for volunteers and items.

Items requested

—THE PROTESTANT Welfare Association Inc. of the Quad-Cities, 2052 Edison Ave., is in desperate need of office supplies and equipment, according to staff member Norma Petty. Top on its list of needs are two 220-volt air conditioning units. The agency's clothing distribution center is in danger of being shut down this summer without an air conditioning unit to cool down the store-room, where senior aides must work. The second unit is needed for the food pantry area, where food is kept for distribution to low-income families and to participants in Project Help. Office equipment needs include filing cabinets, light-weight plastic chairs, an electric typewriter and typing stand and chair.

The agency also is seeking donations for its food pantry and clothing center. Canned goods are always welcome. A special need exists for personal items such as shampoo, deodorant, hand and face cream, and toothpaste. "Clothing of all sizes, for all ages is needed all the time," Mrs. Petty said. The agency currently is trying to gather a supply of summer clothing.

Those willing to contribute any of the above items may bring them to the office on Edison Avenue. Hours are 9 a.m. to noon and 1 to 4 p.m. on Mondays through Fridays. The agency does operate a pick-up service for larger items on Wednesday mornings. Those wishing further information may call Mrs. Petty at 876-8770.

—THE GRANITE CITY Council of Seniors would appreciate donations of coffee, sugar and meat mornings at the Granite City Township Center, 2060 Delmar Ave. The supplies may be delivered from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. The contact person is Juanita Crawley, council president.

—THE NEW LIFE Love Center is requesting food, clothing and household appliances for needy families. The group is a non-denominational organization offering outreach services to the Quad-City area. "In a time of unemployment and (when) personal financial crises are enormous, we believe that we must bind together, care for people in real practical ways," the Rev. Daniel J. Moore, pastor, said. "Recent financial cutbacks to agencies servicing this specific group of people have prompted us to examine ways to meet these ever-increasing needs." The New Life Love Center is located in downtown Granite City at 1909 State St. Those wishing to donate items may call 451-2022.

—MADISON COUNTY Catholic Charities, 2021 Delmar Ave., has a great and continuing demand for baby beds and mattresses.

child car seats, strollers, high chairs, pumpkin seats and all types of furniture for infants. Clothing for infants also is needed. The agency works with approximately 200 expectant mothers each year. Some are the wives of laid off workers, who have lost their income. Others are long-term unemployed. Others are unmarried mothers who are experiencing difficulty providing necessities for their babies. Those wishing to donate items may contact Mary Alvey Beardslee at 877-1184.

Volunteers sought

—WERE YOU a teenage parent? If so, a new program, Parents Plus, could use your experience to help new teenage parents. Parents Plus is being developed by the Mental Health Services of South Madison County, Inc., to provide support and information to teenage parents. The agency is seeking experienced mothers who have been teenage parents to be trained as volunteer parent group leaders.

Volunteers will plan weekly meetings and guide discussion on topics such as health, child safety, personal development, child development and family management. Volunteers will be reimbursed for expenses incurred during training and weekly meetings. Each volunteer is asked to serve four to six hours each week for one year. Those wishing more information may contact Patricia Miller during office hours at 877-4420.

—ALPHA CENTER for Women, 2104 Cleveland Blvd., is seeking volunteers who will serve as drivers and provide their own vehicles to help clients with errands. The agency is a not-for-profit organization that provides housing for pregnant women. The volunteers must be women over age 21 who would drive clients to shopping centers and other local places. The volunteer hours needed would be coordinated with each individual's schedule. The agency also is seeking women volunteers to spend a few hours each month at the center when regular staff members are not present.

—THE SALVATION ARMY, 2007 E. 23rd St., is seeking volunteers to work with young people to help in character development. The group also is seeking instrumental music teachers for its youth program. Application forms for potential volunteers are available at the center. Those wishing further information may call 451-7987.

(Area not-for-profit groups working with older residents are invited to submit appeals for volunteers or items needed to this column, which will appear the second Thursday of each month. Appeals may be submitted during office hours by calling Georgeann McGee at 876-3000, or by writing: "Volunteers & Needs," c/o Georgeann McGee, Granite City Press-Record, 1025 Delmar Ave., Granite City, Ill., 62040. Requests should be submitted at least one week in advance.)

Craft tables available for the July 4 carnival

The Granite City Park District is announcing that tables are available for the Summer Craft Show in conjunction with the July 4th Celebration held annually in Wilson Park.

The craft fair will be on Sunday, July 1, from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m. in Wilson Park, adjacent to the carnival grounds. "This works out very well since there is a roof, but no sides to the rink, which makes it nice in case of inclement weather. Also, there is a matinee at the carnival on this day and many adults bring their children to enjoy the rides while they browse through the craft show," said Director of Parks and Recreation, David Nolan.

The cost of the tables is $7.50 for residents of the Granite City Park District and $12.50 for non-residents. Any acceptable applicant will be granted a table until the quota is met.

For more information, interested persons may call Sue Champion at the Wilson Park Office, 877-3869, or send for an application to: Granite City Park District, Benton and Oregon Streets, Granite City, Ill., 62040.

DAMAGED LOADED TRAILER

Public comment sought on distribution of federal land, water conservation funds

Written comment from the public will be accepted until March 15 on a proposed change in Department of Conservation policy affecting distribution of federal land and water conservation funds.

The proposal would increase the share of Land and Water Conservation Fund (LWCF) money allocated to local development projects. At present, state awards for recreational development projects are limited to 50 percent of that portion of Illinois' LWCF apportionment available to local governments. If adopted, the new allocation policy will be in effect for Fiscal Year 1985 grant awards, according to Jack McCallister, head of Conservation's LWCF grants staff. The grant program is administered in Illinois by Department of Conservation for the U.S. Department of Interior.

The aim of the proposal is to keep grant assistance in tune with local recreational needs, and to respond to increasing need for local development assistance, McCallister said.

Historically, Illinois' LWCF grant allocation policy has stressed land acquisition in response to the rapid disappearance of natural lands for public outdoor recreation. McCallister said approximately 70 percent of the nearly $120 million in LWCF money made available to Illinois since the program began in 1965 has been used for land acquisition.

Although the need for additional recreational land in the state still is increasing and acquisition of quality outdoor recreational areas will continue to be stressed, there is an increasing need to develop the lands acquired through the early years of the LWCF program, McCallister explained.

He said local requests for development assistance have increased in recent years to approximately two-thirds of the total number of local grant applications received by DOC, reflecting a shift in emphasis brought about by the austerity budgets facing most park districts and municipalities. Today, development and stewardship of existing facilities are being stressed more than their expansion or the acquisition of new recreation areas, McCallister said.

The proposed policy alteration, if adopted, will be contained in the new LWCF Local Participation manual scheduled for publication and distribution in April, well ahead of the July application deadline for FY 1985 grants.

To comment on the policy proposal, interested persons may write to McCallister at the Division of Technical Services, Illinois Department of Conservation, 502 S. Second St., Springfield, Ill., 62762.

TALKING POLITICS. United States Senate candidate Paul Simon, left and Missouri Congressman Richard Gephardt have an after-dinner chat at a fund-raiser for Simon last week. The fund-raiser was held at the Collinsville Hilton.

State legislation on auto exhaust testing

By ED GURNEY

A bill is expected to be introduced in the Illinois General Assembly in about a month that would require regular emissions testing of vehicles in Madison and St. Clair counties, Jim Maloney of the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency says.

The inspections, which would also be required in the Chicago area, would involve gasoline-powered vehicles.

Goal of the program in the metro-east area would be to reduce hydrocarbon emissions, which lead to creation of ozone.

If the legislation is approved, the testing would probably begin within about 15 months, Maloney said.

The IEPA and the governor's office are discussing the type of vehicle inspection program to be proposed.

The United States Environmental Protection Agency has threatened a cut-off of federal highway funding if Illinois does not begin a vehicle inspection program in the metro-east and Chicago areas.

The procedure to impose sanctions has been started, but no deadline has been established by the USEPA, Maloney said, adding:

"I think it's clear if we don't do it we're going to lose federal money. There's not much doubt about that."

It has been estimated that Illinois stands to lose $200 million to $300 million per year in highway funding.

Other types of sanctions are possible but have not been proposed at this point.

The IEPA and USEPA got into a dispute in 1982 when Illinois backed off from an earlier commitment to establish a mandatory vehicle inspection and maintenance program.

This area has been classified as in violation of ozone standards. The deadline for meeting air pollution standards had been Dec. 31, 1982, but the state was granted an extension until 1987.

As a condition, the state had to promise to begin vehicle inspections, Maloney said.

The IEPA made proposals to reduce pollution without having an inspection program, but they were not accepted by the federal government.

It has been estimated that hydrocarbon emissions between 1980 and 1987 would be reduced by 50 percent simply because of new industrial pollution standards and because of better pollution controls on cars.

Industry creates about two-thirds of the hydrocarbon emissions and cars produce the other third, Maloney said.

Details of the vehicle inspection program are still to be worked out. One is whether or not all vehicles throughout Madison and St. Clair counties would be required to have inspections.

The inspections must take place at least in urban parts of the counties, Maloney said. However, it would appear to be a monumental task to subdivide the counties in order to exempt vehicles in rural areas, he commented.

Eighteen states, including Missouri, have vehicle pollution inspection programs. Most states exempt diesel vehicles, partly because it is difficult to test them and also because there are no adjustments that can be made to reduce emissions, Maloney explained.

Gasoline-powered vehicles would be tested for carbon monoxide as well as hydrocarbon emissions. Almost all testing equipment checks for carbon monoxide, Maloney said.

Determining the amount of carbon monoxide emissions helps a mechanic diagnose a car, he added.

The inspections would be required every year or every other year. Ways to enforce the law include requiring stickers on the window if a vehicle has passed the test, requiring proof of passing the test before license plates will be awarded, and sending notices to owners of all vehicles that have not been tested.

An inspection fee of $10 to $12 has been projected. Some states subsidize the inspections, so the fee is lower or there is no fee.

The IEPA is leaning toward recommending that the state contract with some firm to do the inspections.

An alternative is to have private garages do the tests. Garages that currently conduct truck safety tests under supervision of the Illinois Department of Transportation could be utilized, Maloney said. He concluded:

"Computer-controlled analyzers cost between $5,500 and $7,500. They require no judgment on the part of the operator on whether the vehicle has passed the test, and cannot be tampered with. We believe they would create credibility for the program among vehicle owners."

Kathryn Pomeroy heads single parents group

Kathryn Pomeroy was elected president of Parents Without Partners Eastside Chapter 91 to serve for the 1984-85 year.

Other officers are Vice President Tom Lybarger, Secretary Cy Corbin, Treasurer Jan Weismeyer and Vice President of membership Pat Hilligoss.

To qualify for membership, a man or woman must be the parent of at least one living child and single because of death, divorce, legal separation or never married. Custody of a child or children is not a determining factor.

Dues are $15 per year and meetings are held the third Tuesday of each month in the meeting room at the Chamber of Commerce, 21 W. Main Street in Collinsville.

PWP was incorporated in New York in March 1958 by two people. The organization now has more than 155,000 members in approximately 1,000 chapters in the United States, Canada, Australia and England. Chapter 91 was the first chapter to be chartered on the East Side and the second in the metropolitan St. Louis area.

It is an international, non-profit, non-sectarian educational organization devoted to the welfare and interest of single parents and their children. The group also helps the single parent make the transition from a two-parent home to a one-parent home.

Projects include socials and activities for the children and members.

Mrs. Pomeroy resides at 2021 Manley Ave., and is the mother of three boys. She is a part-time employee at Charles Restaurant. For information, interested Parents may call 876-6491, 344-0945, 1-656-5401, 1-397-1869 or 797-0341.

Time to plant home gardens

By RONALD E. CORNWELL

Extension Advisor

Now is the time for homeowners to plan their 1984 vegetable gardens. To help the homeowner in planning a vegetable garden, we have available at the Madison County Extension Office the Illinois Vegetable Garden Guide.

The garden guide sells for $2. The first one-third of the guide deals with the various aspects of planning, preparing, planting and caring for the garden and starting plants at home.

The remaining two-thirds of the book contains detailed information about 40 major vegetables, 17 minor vegetables and 16 herbs. It also covers recommended varieties, when and how to plant, care, harvesting, disease and insect problems. The book contains information on storing and exhibiting vegetables.

SOURCES OF SEEDS
The home gardener often asks the question where to obtain vegetable seeds of a new variety of vegetable that is on the market. In many cases, the seed may not be available at a local garden store. If the variety is newly developed.

To help the home gardener with sources of seeds, we have a sheet with a partial listing of the seed houses that supply vegetable seeds. The list gives the name and address of various seed houses where you can write and obtain a copy of a seed catalogue.

LANDSCAPE PLANTING PLANS
Now is the time to plan changes in your home landscape. To help Madison County homeowners design landscape plan to fit their own home, we have a series of seven planting plan booklets available from the Extension office at a small cost.

The booklets available include landscaping a one-story ranch home, two-story ranch home, two-story Colonial home and a split-level home.
